

JUST THE JOB IN THE FIELD!

JOHN CLAYTON RECOMMENDS THE KANGA TD825 MAXI

Compact and so easy to use. That's the line from KANGA about their highly manoeuvrable, extremely portable and high performance, multi-tasking machines. But don't just take their word for it. Here's what John Clayton thinks:

"We had two large post drivers already but the main reason we went for the KANGA was that we wanted something to go out with when we are repairing existing fences. We've had a post knocker fitted so that we can take it out with the trailer and do whatever repairs we need.

"The benefit is that before we would have had to take the lorry out with the big machine on it and it would not have been cost effective, whereas now it makes good sense. It's only a small machine in comparison to our others but that's why we bought it. It gets to the places where others won't go.

"We bought this model because it's the largest one KANGA make and we believed we could do a lot of work with it. As well as the post knocker it also has a post hole borer and we have a 4 in 1 bucket with it. We have six drinking troughs to put in the field we are working in at the moment and the KANGA also has a trencher with it to be able to do just that. We'll even lay the pipe with it and put the soil back with the blade we have for it too. It really does have so many uses. It's amazing what it can do."

John has had his KANGA for six months and is extremely impressed with not only its versatility but also how it is helping his business.
